Richard Cannon

By Kaija Swisher

Richard Cannon grew up in Cherokee, Iowa, before starting work in the sales and electronics business. He says that his favorite hobby is "to tinker," mostly with electronics, and he combined this talent with his ability to play the piano and organ when he invented a device for a piano. His invention allowed a piano to become a player piano with the device attached; he sold this invention to a company which produced the device, and he calls this event his "claim to fame" in his life. With one son and one daughter, Richard enjoys his family and grandchildren, and he is currently looking forward to an upcoming high school reunion which he will attend with his brother this month. Graduating in a class of 14 (where only three of the graduates were girls), Richard is looking forward to visiting his hometown. Richard likes Walnut Village because of the comfort and food it provides. Welcome to Walnut Village, Richard!
