You will have to look at the facial expression to see that it is appropriately titled "one of those days"

The Private Dining Room was packed during Laura Freier's 90th Birthday Party!!

Welcome Lorene Johnson!

Until February of 2008, Lorene Johnson lived by herself and took care of everything, shoveling snow and mowing her own lawn until her health forced her to slow down. Born December 14, 1914, Lorene spent the last 30 years living in Sioux Falls. Throughout her life, she has worked in a post office, grocery store, and cafe, but considers her job at Avera McKennan hospital in housekeeping her main profession. Lorene enjoys sewing, embroidery, quilting, and reading, and also keeps extensive collections which all are welcome to come to see. Lamps, salt and pepper shakers, and cat figurines are just a few of the collections she proudly displays in room 304, and she loves to share stories about when and where she found each piece. Lorene is happy to be closer to family in Yankton, and says, "I like it here. I can adapt to anything!" Welcome to Walnut Village, Lorene!

Welcome Hyacinth Tramp!

Hyacinth Tramp comes from Nebraska, just five miles south of Yankton. She taught eight grades in a one-room schoolhouse before marrying Aelred, her husband. The couple lived on a farm, and Hyacinth found time between caring for their eight children (four of whom were born at home!) to get out to milk the cows. "I always liked to get out and about," she says. Hyacinth enjoys quilting, embroidery, playing cards, and gardening. She now has 22 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren and is happy to be at Walnut Village. Welcome, Hyacinth!
