Yankton Antique Auto Association and Norfolk Antique Auto Club visit Walnut Village

by Jamie Crew

YANKTON – Many memories of school years came up when the Yankton Antique Auto Association and Norfolk Antique Auto Club made a stop at the Walnut Village Senior Apartments on Saturday, Sept. 5.

Some of the members from both auto clubs attended school at Walnut Village before its renovation into senior apartments. Red Nelson, a member of the Yankton Antique Auto Association said he did not attend school there but would like to return with the club and receive a formal tour from those who did.

About once a year, the Yankton Antique Auto Association invites the Norfolk Antique Auto

Club to have a picnic, “and this year visiting Walnut Village seemed like something fun to do beforehand,” Nelson said. “Many of the members thought it was interesting and nice to see the new changes inside the building.”

Walnut Village residents, Pete Blom and Helen Gearhart enjoyed viewing the antique cars and visiting with members of the auto clubs in the picture shown.

The Yankton Antique Auto Association meets once a month, attends five parades, and has joint events with the Norfolk Antique Auto Club. They also attend a Tri-State meet which includes antique auto clubs from Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota.

Walnut Village is pleased to have been a part of the antique auto clubs’ picnic and invites any of the members to return for a formal tour of the facility. To schedule a tour, please contact Walnut Village at (605) 664-4220.
